

McCarthy To Fight Against Vote Of Censure In Senate

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy appeared today to face an uphill fight in fending off a vote of censure when the Senate meets Nov. 8 to weigh his conduct.

Some of his associates privately conceded as much, but he said the Wisconsin Republican will fight vigorously and that the picture may change before the Senate returns nearly six weeks hence.

Thrown into the balance Monday was the unanimous report by three Republican and three Democratic senators recommending that their colleagues officially criticize certain of McCarthy's past actions. The six comprise a special committee set up to study the issue.

Stays In Seclusion
McCarthy was silent on the course he will pursue and his chief attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said McCarthy would have no comment at this time on the committee's report, based on nine days of public hearings.

The Chicago Tribune, however, quoted McCarthy as saying that if the Senate upholds the accusations against him it will have taken a long stride toward "abdication of its constitutional right to investigate wrongdoing in the executive departments."

"I do not care whether I am censured or not," the Tribune quoted him, "but I will fight against establishing a precedent which will curb investigative power and assist any administration in power to cover up its misdeeds."

McCarthy, under treatment for a sinus ailment, was reported in seclusion.

Senators Reluctant
Too few senators were willing to go on public record at this point to permit any accurate forecast of the showdown lineup. An Associated Press survey of senators who could be reached showed this division:

14 senators apparently inclined to vote to censure McCarthy, but not committed to do so.

5 senators apparently inclined to oppose censure, but also not fully committed.

37 senators noncommittal.

This accounted for 56 of the Senate's 96 members—too few to indicate the likely result of the test.

However, the dean of the Senate, Democratic Sen. George of Georgia, predicted the vote will be to censure McCarthy. George declined to say how he will vote.

What plans McCarthy may have to rev up the operations of his Senate Investigations subcommittee remained undisclosed. He had announced he was declining "a vast number" of invitations to deliver campaign speeches for Republican congressional candidates because he felt he could do the GOP more good by probing wrongdoings.

Bad Taste Charged
The committee's findings do not affect his right to conduct hearings, nor would a censure by the Senate.

Two Michigan Senators Praise 83rd Congress

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Michigan's senators praised the 83rd Congress and the Republican administration in speeches Monday.

The two Republicans, Sens. Homer Ferguson and Charles E. Potter, talked respectively of the expanded Social Security system and aid to physically handicapped persons.

Ferguson, campaigning for reelection in the Upper Peninsula, said the Republicans had made the "first major overhaul" of the Social Security retirement system.

He said the greater benefits provide "a more comfortable life for nearly all our people in old age."

Potter, whose term in Congress extends for another four years, addressed the annual Michigan Rehabilitation Conference at Grand Rapids.

He said the last Congress laid the basis for an effective program for rehabilitating handicapped persons. However, he emphasized the program will require cooperation of the states and private agencies.

The senator, legless veteran of World War II, was speaker at presentation of an award named in his honor to Elba Morse, director of the Bay Cliff Health Camp near Marquette.

Democrat Philip Hart pushed his candidacy for lieutenant governor in a talk at Ionia.

Hart said the Democratic party puts its emphasis on "working for the people" while the Republicans respond to people's needs "only when it serves self-sustaining ends."

Doctors Profit On Goof-Balls For Teenagers
LOS ANGELES (AP)—A juvenile officer says some California doctors are making huge profits from the sale of benzdrine pills—sometimes called "goof balls"—to teenagers.

The testimony was given Monday before the U. S. Senate subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency by police Sgt. Joe Hampton, a supervisor of the Los Angeles police juvenile division and president of the Southern California Juvenile Officers Assn.

"The California Dangerous Drug Act allows doctors to sell drugs to juveniles without restrictions," said Sgt. Hampton. "Some doctors buy benzdrine pills in 10,000 lots at $1.75 per thousand and sell them to youngsters at the rate of 50 for $5."

Hampton told Sen. Robert Hendrickson (R-N.J.), who conducted the one-day hearing into southern California juvenile delinquency, that in one instance a doctor sold 1,300 benzdrine tablets to a girl for $10. The officer added:

"She told him she needed them for her diet and was going away on a trip. Instead, she staged a violent sex orgy involving many other teen-agers."

Ferry Crew Blamed
The Americans who died on the Toya Maru were mainly servicemen—most from the 99th Field Artillery Battalion—and their dependents. Several missionaries also were aboard, including one who survived.

The ferry had anchored in the harbor when a sudden strong gust of wind and mountainous waves flipped it over 150 yards from shore.

Some survivors were bitterly critical of crewmen whom they said dissuaded them from leaving the ferry by assuring them there was no danger.

Invasion Of China Mainland Hinted
TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—An official spokesman said today the Chinese Nationalist army will continue its bombardments in the Quemoy area on the Red China coast until "something bigger happens."

Gen. Chang Yi-ting told a news conference "something big" would be initiated by either side. He conceded the possibility of the Quemoy action merging into an eventual Nationalist invasion of the mainland.

Chang declared the Nationalist policy of matching the Reds blow for blow was the only effective means of checking aggression.

Sputtering hostilities broke out Sept. 3 when the Reds bombed Quemoy.

State Welfare Needs Boosted By 15 Million
LANSING (AP)—Rising unemployment and price inflation will require almost 15 million dollars more for Michigan's public assistance programs next year, the State Social Welfare Commission decided today.

The commission approved a budget request of $108,907,058 compared to this year's $94,592,135.

Since half of the funds come from local and federal sources, the state treasury drain would be $52,345,000, compared to $44,346,815—or about eight million dollars more from state funds.

W. J. Maxey, welfare director, said rising unemployment will result in fewer wage earners being able to contribute to the support of relatives and will boost welfare rolls. Higher living costs also will increase the burden on the state, he said.

The commission estimated that the direct relief load will average 19,000 cases a month next year. The current budget is based on 14,000 per month, but last month it had reached 18,500.

The old age assistance load should drop next year from 80,603 to 74,000, the commission estimated, but it proposed to increase monthly individual grants from $52.80 to $56.43.

The commission estimated the aid to dependent children load next year will be 22,500 compared with this year's budget figure of 18,395.

Lost Boy Baffles Sioux City Police
SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—An estimated 200,000 persons in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota prepared today for an all-out search for clues to the mysterious disappearance here of 8-year-old Jimmy Bremmer.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bremmer, was last seen by a playmate only 40 yards from his home here the evening of Aug. 31. Chief of Detectives Harry Gibbons has described his disappearance as "the most baffling missing persons case in Sioux City police history."

Today's massive hunt for some hint as to Jimmy's fate was planned by National Guard officers and city policemen, who already have made several extensive but fruitless searches of the area.

Search officials have asked all business and industrial firms to check their immediate premises and unoccupied areas adjacent to their establishments beginning at 1 p.m.

All residential and apartment dwellers are asked to look over their premises carefully beginning at 5 p.m.

Joe-Must-Go Club May Revive Recall
SAUK CITY, Wis. (AP)—Leroy Gore, weekly newspaper editor and founder of the Joe Must Go Club, said Monday the special Senate committee's recommended censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) "reemphasizes the need for a second recall drive against McCarthy."

The club's first drive to unseat McCarthy failed to secure the necessary 400,000 signatures needed to effect a recall election.

German Arms Talks Given 50-50 Chance Of Success
SCARBOROUGH, England (AP)—Britain's Labor party today approved Clement Attlee's call for German rearmament—but by the tiny margin of only 248,000 votes out of 6,292,000 cast at the annual party conference here.

The vote backing continued efforts to enlist West German troops in Western defense was 3,270,000-3,022,000.

The delegates by a similar slim majority then defeated a motion backed by leftwing Laborite Leader Aneurin Bevan calling for an absolute ban on German rearmament. The vote on this resolution was 2,910,000-3,281,000.

In the debate before the vote, the 71-year-old former Prime Minister had staked his prestige as party leader on a declaration that opposition to West German rearmament would be a "sterile and negative" course.

Typhoon Takes Total Of 1,508 Lives In Japan
HAKODATE, Japan (AP)—Japanese divers today began removing the first of hundreds of bodies in the sunken hull of the ferry Toya Maru which capsized Sunday in a typhoon with the loss of 1,172 lives.

Three divers recovered the bodies of 20 Japanese from the wreckage on the floor of Hakodate harbor. They located the bodies of about 40 of the 60 Americans who perished.

Few Bodies Recovered
National rural police estimated the overall typhoon death toll at 1,508, most of whom died in northern Japan.

Divers reported 43 rail cars tore loose from their moorings on the boats' deck when it capsized, crushing bulkheads, equipment and human beings in Japan's worst maritime disaster.

Only 352 bodies have been recovered. The Japan National Railways listed 173 survivors out of 1,341 passengers and crew.

Hundreds more died in widespread marine accidents, landslides and other mishaps from the typhoon, which veered across northern Japan with winds of 100 miles an hour. Four other ferries also went down with the loss of more than 200 lives.

French Block Prompt OK For Defense Unity
LONDON (AP)—The urgent nine-nation conference on West German rearmament opened today with most observers giving it perhaps a 50-50 chance of success.

A last minute move by the French apparently dashed any hope for a comparatively smooth resolution of rival plans to bring West German troops quickly into the defense pattern of Western Europe.

With Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden serving as host and chairman, the foreign ministers of the United States, Canada, West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg met in the music room of stately Lancaster House, next door to Buckingham Palace.

Details Come Later
To speed the talks, Eden proposed last night that separate and simultaneous discussions be held on the companion questions of West German sovereignty and rearmament during the secret sessions.

Eden set mid-November—within 50 days—as a target for complete and final agreement, except for the necessary parliamentary ratifications.

The current conference is expected to last four to 10 days. The British foreign secretary proposed that it try to reach only general agreement, and that experts then be instructed to work out details for approval by a second nine-power parley to be held within a month.

Following this second meeting, the nine ministers would report jointly to a special meeting of the NATO council to be held not later than mid-November. The council would then admit the West German republic as the 15th member of the North Atlantic Alliance.

The stumbling block raised by the French involved the disputed Saar territory, formerly German but now tied economically to France.

Saar Issue Raised
West Germany has offered to abandon its claim to this rich coal-producing and industrial area on the French-German border if it is administered by the 15-nation Council of Europe. Both France and West Germany are members of the council.

The French let it be known Monday that they prefer to see the Saar administered by the expanded Brussels Treaty organization and the British have proposed—Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The French want agreement on this point before they approve West German rearmament.

The Germans seemed certain to turn this idea down. There was some speculation the French had raised the issue chiefly as a bargaining weapon in the negotiations on German arms.

As the conference opened, the nine powers were agreed in principle to inclusion of West Germany and Italy in the Brussels alliance, and to admission of West Germany into NATO at the same time.

Aside from the Saar question, the main point still at issue was the French insistence on strong safeguards to prevent any new German army from dominating the continent.

British Laborites Have Slim Margin On Arms Question
MILFORD, Del. (AP)—More than two-thirds of the pupils at Milford's newly integrated school stayed home from classes for the second day today as the battle over admission of 11 Negro pupils continued.

Dr. George R. Miller, state superintendent of public instruction, announced that 509 pupils—or 32.6 per cent of the enrolled 1,562 enrolled at the previous all-white combined elementary and high school—attended classes today.

Afraid Of Violence
This was an increase of 3 per cent over Monday when 456 pupils reported after their schools had been closed for a week.

Dr. Miller said the two factors still dominating the situation are "the fear of violence and intimidation by those opposed to the integration."

He said state officials have given no thought at present to prosecuting parents who deliberately keep their children home in violation of the state compulsory school attendance law. That statute requires school attendance until the age of 16.

Crowd Disperses
Dr. Miller said the law contains a clause which allows for three consecutive days of unexplained absence from classes. Today marks the second day of the boycott by those opposed to integration.

Meanwhile, at the nearby town of Lincoln only 36 of a total enrollment of 140 pupils at an all-white elementary school reported for classes today. Parents were reported to have kept their children at home in sympathy with the Milford boycott.

A crowd of about 100 persons gathered outside the Lincoln school as classes started but they quickly dispersed.

Spurned Suitor Kills Two, Shoots Himself At Mineral Point, Wis.
MINERAL POINT, Wis. (AP)—A spurned suitor shot and killed two men Monday night at the home of a widow who had rejected him several hours earlier. He also wounded another woman before putting the barrel of the 22 caliber semi-automatic rifle in his mouth and pulling the trigger. He was in critical condition.

Iowa County Sheriff Ray Rose said Roy Antoine, 55, a laborer, stood outside a window at the home of Mrs. Ruth Hughes and fatally shot Elmer Thomas, 42, Chicago. Another bullet struck and killed Reuben Benson, 53, of Mineral Point, as he ran outside. The sheriff said Antoine then fired two more shots which struck Mrs. Patsy Walton, 48-year-old widow of nearby Linden, in the head as she tried to stop him.

Mrs. Hughes, who watched Antoine shoot himself, was not hit. Mrs. Walton was reported in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital at Dodgeville.

The sheriff said Antoine, who had been courting Mrs. Hughes for several months, had warned Thomas to "stay away" from her. Mrs. Hughes said she had met Thomas a stockyards worker, last Saturday.

She said she told Antoine Monday afternoon that she did not want to marry him.

Benson and Mrs. Walton had planned to be married soon at Dubuque, Iowa.

Hillside Spook Only Two Boys
SAND SPRINGS, Okla. (AP)—The mystery of the midnight "spook light" that has drawn free admission crowds numbering as much as 600 persons has been solved.

Monday night as expensive radio and television equipment was made ready to capture the strange sequence, patrolmen found two boys perched halfway up the cliff with flashlights and towels. Some 500 persons were present at the scene two miles west of here.

The boys, identified by officers as Eugene Anderson, 19, and Jimmy Rose, 17, both of Tulsa, freely admitted the light was their invention. They said they first tried it last Wednesday and repeated it nightly.

Hundreds of persons had visited the area the last five days, some arrived as early as 4 p.m. in order to get a good seat.

Residents of the area had told of seeing the strange blue-green ball of light.

Conditions Are Good Enough To Warrant Pay Raise, Says AFL
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The AFL says economic conditions are worse than the Eisenhower administration admits but good enough to warrant substantial wage boosts for workers.

"Even in a depressed and uncertain economic atmosphere and with a relatively stable cost of living," the convention said, "wage increases are warranted to improve worker living standards and to keep pace with the economy's constantly rising level of productivity."

Another convention resolution quarreled with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell for a speech during the convention saying that the nation is experiencing "the mildest contraction we have ever had in any postwar period."

The convention said that the present "recession" is worse in many respects than the 1949 economic downturn. Mitchell's Labor Department was condemned for "not having a single trade unionist" among its top officials and for "progressive deterioration and ineffectiveness."

Another resolution condemned Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) as "unworthy of the American tradition" and for "reckless disregard for Democratic procedures."

Polish Official Flees To U. S.
WASHINGTON (AP)—A high security official of Poland's Communist government has fled his country and been granted asylum in the United States.

This was disclosed today by Atty. Gen. Brownell who announced that, at the request of the State Department, he has granted temporary entry into the United States of Josef Swiatlo, 39.

Swiatlo is former deputy chief of department 10 of the Polish saw. The Justice Department said that No. 10 is responsible for the protection of the Polish Communist party and regime against internal political subversives.

Today's Chuckle
Most of the Smith's Sunday motor trip had been marred by a violent quarrel. On their homeward journey they passed a pasture just as a donkey brayed loud and long.

"Isn't that a relative of yours," he asked spitefully.

"Only by marriage, dear," she replied sweetly.

Fr. D'Amour And Bro. Athanasius Speak To Rotary

Purpose and program of Catholic Central Holy Name High School were told to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its meeting Monday noon by Fr. O'Neil D'Amour, superintendent, and Brother James Athanasius, principal of the boys' department.

The speakers were introduced by Dr. Thomas J. McInerney, Rotary program chairman for September, at the club's luncheon meeting at the Delta Hotel.

Fr. D'Amour said the Catholic Church has "very definite" Church laws in respect to education, and it is not expected that all of those outside the Church will agree with them. Through Canon Law, however, no Catholic child may be educated in a non-Catholic (other religious) school or in a mixed (public) school, he reported.

It is the order that every parish possible erect a Catholic school.

Strong Classic Program
The basic philosophy of Catholic education is to develop the child in all of his aspects, and the basic idea is to teach the child his relationship to God, his fellowmen, to nature and to himself, Fr. D'Amour said.

Holy Name Catholic Central High School is built around curriculum, and it "is as fine an educational institution as it is possible to develop," Fr. D'Amour said. It has a traditionally strong classic program, he added.

The segregation of boys and girls in class rooms is not that they cannot be trusted together, but so they may be educated better without so many problems of discipline, Fr. D'Amour said. Outside of classrooms and in extracurricular activities the boys and girls are not segregated.

Fr. D'Amour paid tribute to the "generosity and deep faith" of the late Catherine Bonifas, who bequeathed $600,000 to assist in construction of the Catholic High School. He invited Rotarians to visit the school at any time.

Teachers Assist Priests
Brother Athanasius described the Christian Brothers, of which he is a member, as first of all a religious group, but not priests. "You might say we are helpers of the clergy," he added.

The Christian Brothers are dedicated to assisting teen-age boys, who are sometimes misunderstood in their homes and educational institutions. "We can assist the priest in working out salvation for his immortal soul," he said.

Vows of chastity and poverty are taken by the Christian Brothers, who number a total of 21,000 in 63 countries. Brother Athanasius added that as teachers they are required to have degrees of Bachelors of Science and some of them have Masters degrees.

He described a typical day of the Christian Brothers at Holy Name High School, beginning at 5 a. m. with religious observance, a day of teaching from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., religious obligations in the evening, and the preparation for the following day.

First obligation of the Christian Brothers is to Almighty God and then to the teen-age boy. The training in religious marks the only difference from the public school program, he said. He joined with Fr. D'Amour in inviting Rotarians to visit the new Catholic Central High School.

Star British Cop Says Gun-Carrying Is Not Good Idea

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Fabian, Britain's most celebrated detective since Sherlock Holmes, feels it might be a good idea if American cops quit carrying guns.

"The display of firearms is to be deprecated," mildly observed the ex-detective superintendent of Scotland Yard. "It incites the criminal to carry one, too."

"A firearm is not an equalizer—it is an antagonist."

In his 28-year service with "The Yard" Fabian solved a dozen murders, helped send nine men to the gallows, more than 800 to prison.

Only Hands Needed
"I never carried a gun in my life," he said, "although twice I had to take guns away from men who seemed to want to use them on me. The only weapon I ever needed was my hands."

Fabian began his career as an ordinary constable. He still feels the best way to cut down crime is to put more cops out on beats, swinging a nightstick.

"We pamper both young delinquents and hardened criminals too much," he said.

Fabian believes Britain made a mistake in doing away with the cat o' nine tails in 1948. He is convinced that 10 lashes on a criminal's back with "The Cat," or 20 strokes with birch switches on his bare bottom teaches him an unforgettable lesson.

"The physical punishment is not as bad as the degradation," he said. "When you birch a criminal, you treat him like a naughty schoolboy. He never lives down the shame of it—not even with his own class."

Writes Best Sellers
Since retiring from Scotland Yard in 1949, Fabian has turned out two best-selling books on his experiences, "Fables of the Yard," and "London After Dark." He also writes a weekly column on crime for a British newspaper chain and recently completed 39 half-hour TV films, based on his own cases, for telefilm Enterprises.

Here are a few observations on crime by Britain's "Detective of the Century":

"I don't mind an honest-to-goodness crook myself. But there is too much glamorization of criminals. They don't look glamorous in a cell."

It has been my experience that most killers do have gray eyes. People with brown eyes are more warm-natured.

"Crime really doesn't pay. A thief doesn't get very much for what he steals—only about one tenth of the wholesale value of the goods."

"Criminals who work alone are usually the most difficult to catch. It is generally easier to catch a murderer than a robber."

"In detective work patience and attention to detail are everything."

Recruiting Contest Of Local Guard Unit Will Close Oct. 23

The response to the recent recruiting drive started Sept. 14 in Company, C 107th Engineers has been most gratifying, according to Capt. Roy J. Johnson, local company commander.

The mission of the company is to fill all existing vacancies, and to have a large recruit platoon in constant operation. As the recruits become trained they will fill the vacancies of their choice in the working platoons. Capt. Johnson said the National Guard offers an excellent opportunity for veterans, high school students, and young men, willing to learn a skill, earn extra income and qualify for leadership positions. All parents interested in the military future of their sons should look into the opportunities the local engineer unit has to offer.

The recent campaign has been labeled operation "Leadership" by the unit recruit director, Lt. George C. Anderson. This operation will continue through Oct. 23 and will end with a banquet and a military dance at the local armory. The contest is between the two existing platoons in the company, with the loser providing the banquet and the entertainment. Lt. Anderson announced that 15 young men have joined the local guard unit to date and more enlistments are in the process of being recruited.

The new enlistments are as follows:

Marcel LaChapelle, Robert Rodgers, George Cavades, John Cody, Ronald Cody, Earl Anderson, all of Escanaba; Jerome McCaulough, Archie Megenup, Harris; James Miller, Robert Bizeau and John Harwick, Gladstone; James Welke, Frank Lundberg and Ivan Majestic, Ensign; and Louis Fine, a transfer from Marquette.

MAKE YOUR GARMENTS WATER REPELLENT... NOW!!!

by Melton McGovern, Graduate of National Institute of Dry Cleaning.

Lord bless us, but the rains are here again, and the next one we're caught in will probably find us either minus a raincoat or wearing one that soaks through.

The answer, of course, is treatment with CRAVENETTE.

First off, let's clear up a couple of things. Nothing you wear should be 100% waterproof. If it were, it wouldn't be porous and so, uncomfortable.

Again, water repellents aren't 100% permanent. They wear off after a while. But they can be applied and reapplied.

Next, no water repellent will "stick" unless the garment is thoroughly spotted and cleaned beforehand.

Another thing: Water repellents are often used on garments which cannot by any stretch of the imagination be considered as rain-protective apparel. You see, they give materials greater body, retard wrinkling, delay absorption of moisture so that the garment will retain good appearance longer, and improve the shape, drape or hang of a garment. On top of that, they protect cloth against spots and stains.

Treated with a water repellent, material is less likely to stain permanently. Stains find it more difficult to penetrate the fibers of such a fabric.

So all in all it's a good idea right now to

Sensiba Traces Airport History

Fred Sensiba, manager of the Escanaba airport, reviewed the development of aviation in Escanaba at the meeting of the Escanaba Lion Club last night at the Sherman Hotel. Later a movie showing the purposes and advantages of community air service was shown.

Sensiba declared that the construction of a longer east-west runway is essential to maximum commercial utilization of the local airport. Many flights now are cancelled because of cross winds which prevent landing on the north-south runway.

The airport manager said that the CAB regulations are designed for the safety of the air passengers.

Mayor Harlan Yelland reported that funds are being provided this year for extending the runway across Willow Creek and indicated the east-west runway development will be completed next year.

CAB regulations require a runway at least 3800 feet in length for commercial planes. The local airport now has only one 3800 foot runway. The east-west runway is available for small planes but not for commercial planes.

Community Chest Drive To Begin Here Oct. 11

The 1954 Delta County Community Chest campaign to raise funds to pay for the work of six health, welfare, relief and recreation agencies in 1955 will begin Monday, Oct. 11, it was announced this morning by William E. Anderson, of Escanaba, who will head the drive for the second successive year.

In addition to Anderson, the Community Chest Council has appointed Robert Fontaine as Escanaba city chairman, Russell Kent as Gladstone city chairman and Fred Bernhardt and Andrew M. Houston to head the drive in all townships in the county.

City Organization
Fontaine and Kent will announce within the next few days their fund raising organizations in Escanaba and Gladstone, respectively.

"Our goal is again $20,000,"

Chairman Anderson said, "and since we had to dip into our meager reserves this year to meet the minimum requirements for the six agencies, it is essential that we attain our goal in this year's campaign."

Since being revived, the Community Chest has been successful in eliminating extra campaigns that were such a nuisance both for donor and solicitor throughout the county, it was pointed out.

The Community Chest the past few years has been a successful "six-in-one" drive that eliminated separate drives for most of the participating agencies.

The Six Agencies
The six agencies in the Chest are the Michigan Children's Aid Society, Cod Liver Oil Fund, Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts of America, Salvation Army and the Girl Scouts of America.

Officers of the Chest Council are Walter Peters, president; Dr. Alfred Gossan, vice president, and A. W. Moberg, secretary-treasurer. Members of the executive committee are: Escanaba — James G. Ward, Jr., Sam Ham; Gladstone — Wallace Cameron, Oscar Ohman, A. B. Ellingson; townships — Victor Borge, Rev. Wilbert Johnson, and agencies representatives on the board are Nicholas P. Chapkis and James T. Jones.

Attlee's Support Of Red China
Recalls Neville Chamberlain Era

CLEMENT Attlee, Socialist leader of England, has called for the delivery of Formosa to the Chinese Communists and the exiling of Chiang Kai-Shek to a "safe place." Attlee says the United States is unrealistic in its support of the Nationalist government of China.

Now, really, who is unrealistic?

Attlee contends that the only way to bring peace to the Orient is to yield to the demands of the Chinese Communists. England, under Chamberlain, tried that at Munich, only to learn the tragedy of that error.

By the use of Attlee's reasoning, peace could be bought in Europe, too, simply by turning Europe over to the Communist. Attlee would hardly be in favor of that.

Words, Wit &amp; Wisdom

By William Morris

HURRICANE WRECKS HAVOC ALONG COAST, ran the headline in a small New England newspaper a few weeks ago—thus setting in big black type one of the more common errors of folk speech. What the headline should have said, of course, is that the hurricane "wrecked"—not wrecked—havoc.

Actually, there is a fairly close kinship between the two words and, in the opinion of some word authorities, both come from the same Icelandic work "rek." However that may be, there is a clear distinction between the two today. "Wreck" (pronounced REEK) means to inflict or to execute. Thus the hurricane inflicted havoc (destruction and devastation) along the New England shore.

The fact that many boats and homes were wrecked by the violence of the storm scarcely warrants the misuse of "wrecks" in the headline. For "wreck" (pronounced REK) means to destroy or badly damage. Thus a literal interpretation of the headline would be HURRICANE DESTROYS DESTRUCTION ALONG COAST—which is nonsense.

Havoc (pronounced HAV-uk) has an interesting history, incidentally. As noted above, its meaning today is destruction or devastation, especially that resulting from a great catastrophe. But back in the Middle Ages when we took the word into English from the Norman French word "havok," it was a war cry—a signal for invading warriors to attack, sack and plunder a village.

Perhaps the word is best known nowadays to readers and playgoers in the memorable sentence from Mark Anthony's soliloquy over the body on the newly fallen Caesar: "And Caesar's spirit ranging for revenge . . . shall in these confines with a monarch's voice cry 'Havoc!' and let slip the dogs of war." Here, as in so many other instances, Shakespeare's use of a word in memorable context has been incomparably the best insurance that the word will remain a part of the living language.

By the way, Julius Caesar himself is responsible for several words in our language. Both "Czar" and "Kaiser" were derived from his name and the surgical operation known as the "Caesarian section" was named after him because, according to popular belief, he was brought into the world through such an operation.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

Zsa-Zsa Hornblow, the doughty old maid who had inherited the Hornblow Nut and Bolt factory from her father, Uriah Hornblow, and ran it with an iron hand, caught sight of a young fellow leaning idly against the wall, whistling and twiddling his thumbs. The outraged Zsa Zsa shrielled, "You there! What's your weekly salary?" "Thirty bucks," vouchsafed the idler "Humph!" snorted Zsa Zsa. "Here's thirty dollars. Now vamoose! You're fired." The young man pocketed the thirty and left, exuding good will.

Zsa Zsa watched till he was off the premises, then demanded of Foreman Al Shirley, "How long was that waster on our payroll?" "He never was, ma'am," said Al patiently. "He was just taking orders for cokes and sandwiches for the drug store."

There was the suspicion of a tear in the England's support of Red China is not predicated at all upon the effect such action may have upon world peace. England wants to trade with the Chinese Communists and that is the basis for England's support of the Chinese Reds.

Attlee says, too, that China's seat in the United Nations, now held by the Nationalist Chinese government, should likewise be turned over to Mao, the Chinese Communist dictator.

It is most unfortunate that the Western powers are divided on this very important issue of China. If we yield to the Communists on the issue of Formosa and the issue of China's representation in the United Nations, we may as well be prepared for further Communist aggressions elsewhere. The Communists are committed to a policy of world conquest and the sooner we recognize it and act accordingly, the better we will be. Capitulating to Communist demands will get it nowhere except to even more trouble. Certainly it will not assure world peace.

Judge Doyle Helps
To Check Speeders

WHEN speeders and reckless drivers appear before Justice of the Peace E. J. Doyle at Manistique, the judge presents the defendants with a copy of an illustrated pamphlet, "Death on the Highway." The booklet depicts some of the hideous results of traffic accidents and the judge says that it has a sobering effect upon speeders, particularly the youngsters who are among the worst offenders in the traffic accident statistics.

The judge, we think, is performing a useful public service in his efforts to help cut down the traffic toll. The booklet with the gory photos of car wrecks may not be a cure-all for all heavy-pedalled drivers but if it helps to convince some of the speeders that it pays to drive more carefully, the effort is well worth while.

Safe driving is primarily a matter of good driving habits. Thousands of American motorists have driven for many years and have covered several hundreds of thousands of miles without an accident of any kind—even as much as a fender dent.

Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of Chicago schools, has taken a step to curb teen-age rowdiness that follows the pattern in Detroit.

He has banned night football games by high school teams and ordered also that the teams play only on Friday and Saturday afternoons. This development is the result of athletic contests being marked by rioting between followers of teams and vandalism on public transportation carriers.

School authorities cannot tolerate rowdiness and vandalism during and after football games, even if they have to eliminate football entirely from the schedule of athletics. The moves in Chicago and Detroit are a warning of what to expect if conditions do not improve.

The Doctor Says . . .

Don't Take Measles Lightly;
Results Sometimes Tragic

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The opening of schools in the fall is the time when the common contagious diseases of childhood are most likely to cause trouble.

The big four are measles, mumps, chicken pox and whooping cough. They are so common among children that I have been asked frequently if it isn't best to expose small children to such infections and "get it over with." The answer (with the possible exception of chicken pox) is no.

They are not harmless and it is better to avoid them if possible, though mumps and whooping cough may be worse for grownups or the elderly than for youngsters.

MEASLES, for example, is not the simple thing many seem to feel. In many years more youngsters die from measles than from polio; it often causes serious complications such as bronchopneumonia or bronchitis; even when mild the five hundred thousand more or less who have measles each year are kept out of school or other activity for quite a long time.

The eyes, too should be protected during the early acute phase of the disease.

THE CAUSE of measles is a virus and this tiny living organism is present in the secretions of the mouth and nose during the first few days, during which a person is "coming down" with the disease.

A sneeze or cough will carry the virus into the air where it can be breathed in by anyone else around. This makes measles especially contagious even before the skin rash appears.

It is difficult to avoid exposure once an outbreak of measles has started in a school. Exposure certainly should not be sought but if it does occur one has to consider the use of a substance known as immune globulin. If this is given to a youngster who has been exposed, at just the right time, it tends to make the disease exceedingly mild and cut down on the number of serious complications.

THE MAIN PURPOSE of this discussion of measles is to point out that the disease should not be taken as a joke and as something every child must have. Too often the disease has been considered lightly, sometimes with tragic results.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The "agonizing reappraisal"—promised several months ago by the United States government in the event that France rejected the European Defense Community agreement now is being made.

Serious consideration is being given here to an alternative strategy. This calls for the gradual withdrawal of the six divisions of American troops now stationed in continental Europe. It calls for an emphasis on air power to be applied from bases on land and sea encircling Soviet Russia.

Rejection of the European Defense Community agreement by the French Parliament is regarded curiously enough as a blessing in disguise by some of the military planners here. All along they have felt that it was foolhardy to maintain six American divisions in Europe to be sacrificed in the event the Red Army with its 200 divisions started to march toward France.

LONDON CONFERENCE

The London conference this week might conceivably offer on paper some new alignment of the European nations interested in defense including promises from France. But the chances of all this affecting the new American approach are remote. For the reappraisal has been carried to the point where any reversal would be regarded as a "gamble." All this has been done without public announcement except some vaguely phrased warnings which probably are being mistakenly regarded in Paris as sheer bluff.

The United States government, moreover, is well aware that there may develop amid the confusing counsels in France a neutralist policy and even a drive for possible collaboration between Moscow and Paris. But such developments, instead of retarding or modifying the new American strategy, will only be regarded here as fortifying and justifying the "agonizing reappraisal" now in process.

What many Europeans have overlooked is that inside the United States for the last five years there has been a steady build-up of public opinion behind a movement to rely on the deterrent effect of air power as the best defense against the next war. Only a limited amount of money is available in the American budget anyhow if taxes are to be reduced. So the proponents of more air power have constantly been looking askance at the billions being spent, wastefully as they see it, to maintain a big American land army in Europe and to support the land armies of other countries.

GENERALS IMPATIENT

The doctrines of the air-power enthusiasts fit in exactly with the latest developments in French policy. These are seen as demonstrating how unreliable the land-army situation can be when it is geared to France where 100 Communist deputies in the French Parliament can defeat a policy of defensive planning after more than two years of preparation. American generals of ground forces have become impatient over the long delay in coming to a decision over the European Defense Community agreement. Now that the French have made their decision, the military planners here are switching their emphasis to what is called "peripheral strategy"—a strategy operated from bases on the outer edges of Europe.

This means reliance on land bases in Britain and the low countries and Germany in the approaches through the Baltic area. It means dependence on bases in Spain, Italy, Austria, Greece, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan, from which giant bombers can take off within a few hours flying time of the factories and military installations in the heart of Soviet Russia. It means also more aircraft carriers for the Mediterranean and the North Atlantic. It means, in fact, the mobilization of Allied air power of all kinds to impress the rulers in the Kremlin that the real deterrent force is "massive retaliation." This phrase has been seized upon by the neutralists in Europe and a few misguided politicians in the Democratic party here as an object of ridicule but it is the core of American policy.

"Massive retaliation" does not mean and never has meant intervention in "little wars" with atomic weapons but a strategy for resisting the main attack that might come from the Red Air Force. It means that airplanes of the United States carrying the superbombs will fly from places of their own choosing but only in case of an attack by Russia itself on the United States or any other member of the North Atlantic treaty.

Incidentally, the North Atlantic treaty organization which has had its headquarters in Paris probably will be moved in the next few months either to London or some other European center. For the United States as a result of the action of the French parliament no longer feels committed to the kind of NATO command setup now in existence in Paris but only to the obligations of the treaty itself. Since other ways of implementing the treaty seem desirable, changes in its military strategy are inevitable also. It would appear that the United States government refuses to "gamble" any more with a hesitant, vacillating, procrastinating France.

There is no bitterness here toward France in all this but merely a regrettable reappraisal of the weakness of France which now is regarded realistically as too torn from within by Communist-inspired dissension to play a full part in the defense of Europe in the years immediately ahead.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Washington—Trade between the USA and Argentina has been reduced to a trickle because of an embargo placed by this country against the South American republic.

Escanaba—Shipping from the Escanaba port continues heavy. It is expected that the tonnage will amount to almost 5,900,000 tons.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Formal approval of Escanaba's application for establishment of a freshmen college here under the emergency program has been received in Lansing. About 50 students are enrolled and about a dozen unemployed instructors have applied for jobs as teachers.

Eye-Witness Tells How Reds
Build Up To Invade Formosa

SHANGHAI'S WATERFRONT FROM THE AIR looked like this as craft milled about in Whangpoo River, fleeing the Reds in 1949. Today shoreline is dotted with Commie gun boats, landing craft

By JOHN SMITH

Written for NEA Service
HONG KONG—(NEA)—I have just returned from a visit to Shanghai, my home for 30 years before the Communists took over, and I have seen the buildup for the next Red attack in Asia.

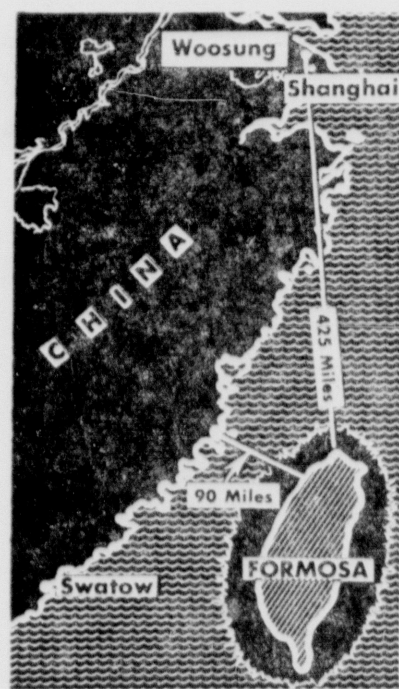

They are ready for Formosa. They believe they will win.

This belief based on the Western surrenders in Korea and Indo-China and the firm conviction that the U. S. Navy and Air Force will not act with enough speed or force to prevent a Red victory on Chiang's island.

My impressions are based upon what I saw and heard in Red China.

At Woosung, the ship I was aboard was held up for several hours by the quarantine doctor. From our vantage point in the harbor, I had a perfect view of the small shippards which dot the shoreline of the Whangpoo River up to the main port.

On the ways, in various stages of completion, were scores of CLOSENESS of Formosa to Red mainland and to air and sea bases at Shanghai is shown here.

medium-sized vessels, ranging from 500 to 800 tons. At anchor were swarms of gun boats (formerly Japanese) and rows of LSTs and LSMs and smaller landing craft. The latter were all U. S. gifts to Nationalist China. Two years ago these were a collection of rusty hulks with skeleton crews. Today they are a smart-looking armada of light ships. They are freshly painted and their well-trained crews drill day and night. Big guns have been mounted fore and aft and the LSTs have rows of automatic 30-mm. guns along each side.

This, I was told, is but one portion of the staging area which extends along the entire coast opposite the Nationalist stronghold. This type of activity around Shanghai is all for offensive preparations. There are no signs of defenses. Gun positions and forts which protected the harbor from Woosung have been razed.

But amphibious training continues week-in and week-out as division after division takes its turn for sea drills under the watchful eye of Soviet tutors.

The Reds' strategy is based on two beliefs:

1. They can knock out Formosa with a "human sea" attack of small craft and paratroops covered by an air armada of MIGs which can furnish them with local air superiority for at least a week.

The Reds have amassed enough small ships to move a million men in the first wave. (Chinese are loaded on 2½-ton trucks at 65 per truck. We load 24.) They can put 500 MIGs into the area in a few hours, knowing that the nearest U. S. Sabrejets, only opponent a MIG fleet, are hundreds of miles away on Okinawa. They know U. S. Navy carrier planes are no match for MIGs.

2. By taking Formosa, they will eliminate the one talking point of the U. S. for steadfastly fighting Red China's admission into the United Nations—Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government. The Peoples' Revolution in China will then be termed "completed" and a "united" government will demand representation.

The Reds will make their political bid for UN recognition this fall. The military bid may come at the same time.

The Communists know, more than citizens in the U. S. realize the same fact, that the U. S. Seventh Fleet is spread out over thousands of miles of Pacific and China Sea waters. They evaluate its strength as not sufficient to halt a tremendous mass invasion under an umbrella of MIGs.

They feel certain that the temperament of the U. S. Government is such that chances of the Seventh Fleet being built up to meet their planned attack are slight. They figure that the U. S. will reinforce after the initial invasion, by that time, the Reds hope to have the island overrun.

They do not credit Chiang's army with the ability that press accounts have given.

I am not an authority on either side of the picture. The issue of the U. S. Navy and Air Force's determination to fight for Formosa has been made clear in various public statements. The ability of Chiang's soldiers in a possible battle has been lauded by both American military men responsible for their training and by press observers. But on the Chinese mainland, these items are not believed.

The outcome of an attack may be in doubt. But it's certain the sights are on Formosa and the Reds are ready to trip the trigger.

So They Say

This Administration talks tough and carries a golf putter. —Sen. Henry Jackson (D., Wash.)

Only massive intervention of American Air Force planes could have changed the fate of the battle (for Dien Bien Phu), and even so, not at the very end.—Brig-Gen. Christian De Castries.

Men's clothes will really be revolutionized when the male asserts his right to be considered as alluring and decorative and beautiful as women.—Fashion expert Elizabeth Hawes.

It behooves the American people, I think, to give Mr. Eisenhower a Democratic Congress and hope that we can save him from the misdeeds of his own party.—Former President Truman.

A communist isn't entitled to be a citizen of the United States.—Vice President Nixon.

Yes, there were flies. The only fresh meat in our soup was dead flies.—Newsman Donald Dixon on Red Chinese imprisonment.

It is healthy to have two political parties which compete for the right to represent the nation. It is also important that that competition should stop at the water's edge so that, when we face others, we do so as a united nation.—Secretary of State Dulles.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

MUSHROOMS—While walking through the woods last Sunday afternoon we noted the many mushrooms that had popped up since the rains began. Our knowledge of mushrooms is limited to recognizing but one safe and edible kind—the morel. Of these we found none.

It was not our intention to pick mushrooms, because we know that one mistake in identifying them can bring death to the table. However we are interested in the subject, as so many other people are also. In the mail yesterday was a letter from Joseph C. Courier of 2011 15th Ave. N., who asked: "Could you tell me how one can tell good mushrooms from bad?"

Sorry, but I don't have the answer. However, I can suggest that the recommended way to learn the safe and edible from the poisonous mushroom is to accompany someone who does know the difference.

Only by being in the woods and fields with an experienced mushroom hunter and learning from him can the "good" mushrooms be recognized and the "bad" ones avoided. To do otherwise is to risk death.

THE SAME THING—People have been eating mushrooms since very early times. Which brings up the question of who was the first to discover that some were poison and the others safe? Perhaps it was a system of trial and error, with those who erred never making the same mistake again.

Early Greeks and Romans were fond of mushrooms, according to the historians. Czar Alexis of Russia died from eating the poisonous fly mushroom, history tells us. Even to this day, more people in Europe than in America eat mushrooms.

Botanists do not separate toadstools and mushrooms into two different groups. People generally give the name mushroom to those that can be eaten, and toadstool to those that are poisonous.

Fortunately for the children, they are told at an early age that all such growths are "poison toadstools" and thus avoid all of them—good and bad. Only an expert botanist or skilled "mushroom hunter" can tell which ones are safe and which contain deadly poisons.

GOOD AND BAD—There are about 38,000 known species in the mushroom family, and a thousand or more are good to eat.

Our purpose is this article is not to attempt description of any of the mushrooms, either wholesome or poisonous. The possibility of a novice picker making a tragic mistake is too great. Better to pick none if you have the slightest doubt as to a mushroom's identity.

The "good mushrooms" are a delicacy that can be bought in most food stores. These are all of the cultivated variety that came originally from the wild agarics or field mushrooms.

The "bad mushrooms" are many in number and several are so similar in appearance to the safe kinds that only the most expert can tell the difference. Here is how the encyclopedia describes the effect of the poisonous mushroom:

"Its poison acts like the venom of the rattlesnake, as it separates the corpuscles in the blood from the serum. No antidote is known for the poison."

The only hope for anyone who has eaten of this poisonous mushroom is prompt use of the stomach pump.

Another poisonous variety paralyzes the nerves which control the heart action. The juice of this one makes a very powerful fly poison when a few drops are placed in a saucer.

BETTER HAVE CABBAGE—There are a number of mushrooms with unpleasant names significant of their effect upon the human stomach—Destroying Angel, Satan's Mushroom, Death Cap.

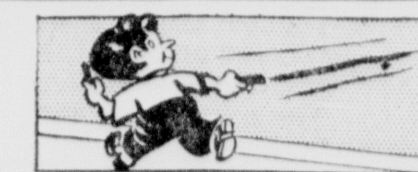

Symptoms are very similar in all cases of mushroom poisoning. There are always severe pains in the abdomen, followed by a bluish appearance of the skin and collapse of the patient. Without prompt treatment he is almost certain to die.

Don't believe the old wife's tale that only a poisonous mushroom will turn a silver spoon black when they are being cooked. Many safe kinds will also turn silver black.

Mushrooms are the chief food of natives on Tierra del Fuego and some parts of Australia. But elsewhere they are eaten as a table delicacy rather than a main food.

Considering all the risk involved in finding a safe mushroom, it would be better to buy them at the store. Since they contain 88 per cent water and are not any more nourishing than juicy cabbage leaves—it might be preferable to buy a head of cabbage.

THE STORY: Jim Dunn, private detective, who with his wife Nancy is posing as a caretaker while doing some work for his client, Mrs. Kit Carlson, has just discovered the body of Mrs. Angelica Jones, sister-in-law of his client, in the basement of the mountain lodge occupied by Mrs. Kit. The discovery is immediately complicated by the presence of the car of Miss Wister, Jim's secretary, outside the lodge. Jim thought Miss Wister was in Denver. Miss Wister is not around but when the sheriff arrives, she is riding with the sheriff. And the sheriff is a woman, Mrs. Toby Argyle.

XIV

Miss Wister told her story in a monotone which gave no emphasis to any particular part and no credence to the whole.

"Angelica talked to me on the phone yesterday at the office in Denver. She was calling long distance. She wanted to see me, said she had something of interest to tell. I couldn't get away before and I met her at Creek Junction last night. We drove part way here. I guess I got confused because I turned off the main road here. It was dark as pitch. I got out of the car and walked on ahead to see what was going to come along next, to see where the road went. Angelica turned my car around, drove off and left me. For a while I thought she would be coming back, so I just waited. I stumbled around in the dark awhile then and decided I'd better just stay put until daylight. I did. When it got light I started walking, and I managed to reach the main road when Mrs. Argyle came along in her truck. She brought me here."

Jim Dunn looked at Sheriff Agnes with both expectation and fear. Expectation of a blast which would jolt Miss Wister from her present state of mind, and fear that his secretary would probably be arrested immediately.

Instead, the sheriff asked mildly, "What time did you meet Angelica?"

"About three this morning," Miss Wister said. "I couldn't make it any sooner."

"What did she want to see you about?"

"She didn't get around to telling me."

Jim Dunn found that his mouth was open. He closed it, swallowed several times to moisten the lining of his throat. He realized that neither Miss Wister nor the sheriff was paying much attention to what she was saying. Both seemed to have their minds, the concentration of their thoughts, on something else. Both were going through the motions of a more or less proper attention to the requirements of such a situation. That was for his benefit.

He must have made some sort of noise with his swallowing because Sheriff Agnes turned toward him, gave him a hard official glare, and used an equally harsh tone in the question, "You know this woman well?"

"She works for me," Jim man-careless holes in Miss Wister's story.

"In the basement," Jim said. "On the wood elevator." He handed over the key to the basement door.

The basement door had been closed behind the sheriff for a full three minutes before Jim broke the silence.

"Well, Miss Wister?"
She almost smiled, but then her face took on a stubborn expression. There was nothing he could do but let nature take its course, which in this case meant listening to whatever it was Miss Wister had decided to tell him.

"You may not know it," Miss Wister said, "but I'm a relation of the Carlsons. Call it cousin, which is close enough. I suppose you noticed I recognized Kit when she came into the office, and I'm sure she knew me, or of me through Angelica. Anyway when you told me to look up anything I could on Mrs. Hilton, I had a head start. I've always kept track of the Carlson doings, just as a matter of habit."

"Just a minute," Jim interrupted. "Did she actually phone you?"

Miss Wister did not appreciate the interruption. "She phoned me. She — often did. I'd just as soon not have it known by anyone else, but sometimes I received mail for Angelica."

"Who from?" Jim demanded.
She set her lips in a mulish line. "I wouldn't care to make a guess. Anyway she'd call me up and ask, 'Anything?' That was all, because we couldn't tell how much the local operators told to Mrs. Oswald. But this time when she called she wanted help in getting something from The Spies. Poor thing! I've always liked Angelica. At least, I've liked her the best of any of the Carlsons. But still, she is a Carlson! At any rate I had to come up to make a report to you, so I arranged to meet Angelica at Creek Junction."

"How about this report?" Jim asked.
"I'm going to wait awhile," Miss Wister said.

Ground Swells Injure Los Angeles Bathing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ten-foot ground swells injured hundreds of bathers who blocked to the beaches Sunday to escape a temperature of 91 degrees.

Six persons required hospital treatment after being buffeted by the booming combers. Lifeguards rescued 80 persons at Los Angeles County beaches.

Lifeguard Capt. John F. Dillon said "literally hundreds of people were cut and buried by the waves."

Lifeguards patrolled Venice and Playa Del Rey beaches in jeeps, warning parents to keep unattended youngsters out of the rampaging Pacific.

Accident Case
Heard In Court

The non jury trial of James Calkins vs. Jeffery Menard Jr. which resulted from a hunting accident 13 years ago, was reopened before Judge Nebel in Delta County Circuit Court this morning.

Calkins alleged this morning that he was shot in the right knee by Menard while both men were hunting near Northland on Oct. 17, 1941. Calkins testified that he was standing on a hill behind some brush when he was shot. He stated that Menard and a companion, Royal LaMarsh, came to him after he had been shot and gave him first aid and that Menard left to summon help to get Calkins out of the woods to a hospital.

On the witness stand Menard maintained that he did not see the plaintiff stand on the hill when he shot. He said that he saw a deer and that what he was aiming at when he fired.

Judge Nebel called a recess at 12:30 and the case was continued this afternoon. The plaintiff is represented by McGinn and Fitzharris and the defendant by Doyle and Doyle.

World Series TV
Hookup Goes To
155 U. S. Stations

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK (AP) — Spectacular No. 2, the musical "Lady in the Dark" was an improvement over "Satin and Spurs" of a couple weeks ago.

A slick performance, yet it had a definite drawback. It was difficult, if not impossible at times, to follow the action without a program Playbill. Fortunately I had one of these, carefully prepared by NBC-TV, listing the cast and the many scenes, my actual count 12.

But I could not help think of the many viewers without this "scorecard." They must have puzzled over the numerous transitions of the lady, so trimly played by Ann Southern, from the real to the dream world as she tried to decide whether to be a career woman or a wife.

The costumes, dancing and other effects were brilliant in color as a spectacle, and almost as effective in black and white.

And literally was a blonde dream on the screen, although at my house they preferred her acting to her singing.

If you noticed closely, a double was necessary in some scenes to allow her time to change costumes.

Each year the audience watching the World Series grows and grows, aided by television.

The largest hookup yet will be in action Wednesday when the 1954 play gets under way in New York between the Cleveland Indians and the Giants. The station total in the United States will be 155 in 150 cities compared to 103 and 100, respectively, last year.

Eight Canadian stations also will be in the circuit.

The schedule:
NBC-TV at 12:45 p. m., with a preview at 12:30.
The sponsor (Gillette), figures the cost will be $14 million dollars. Of this, the rights for radio cost $200,000 and those for TV a million.

Fans Start Lining
Up For Series Seats

NEW YORK (AP)—A Dodger fan heads the waiting line at the Polo Grounds to buy bleacher seats for the first game of the World Series between the Giants and the Cleveland Indians.

George Schneider, 35-year-old delivery clerk of Brooklyn, took up his place at the front of the line at about 4 a. m.

About an hour and a half later, Roy Paul of Des Moines, Iowa, a disabled veteran of World War II, arrived to take second place in the line.

The bleacher seats will go on sale Wednesday morning.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Quick calls from playmates were credited with saving the life of a 7-year-old Charleston boy trapped Monday in a fly ash fill described as being as dangerous as quicksand.

Witnesses said the frantic calls attracted Norvell Spade, who pulled young Gary Snider from the fill created by deposits from a Charleston chemical plant.

McCarthy Ready To Fight Against
Censure In Senate

Senate. Censure is an official reprimand, but it carries with it no sanctions such as loss of committee chairmanships or seniority.

The special six-man committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), Unanimously agreed that McCarthy deserved the punishment of an official public reprimand on these three counts:

- 1. That he used language "in bad taste and unworthy of a member of this body" in denouncing senators who served on the subcommittee.
  - 2. That he used language "in bad taste and unworthy of a member of this body" in denouncing senators who served on the subcommittee.
  - 3. That he was guilty of "inexcusable" and "reprehensible" abuse of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.
- It was McCarthy's handling of Zwicker as a witness before his Investigations subcommittee which touched the spark on the McCarthy-Army row, which also brought criticism of the Wisconsin senator from some of his colleagues.

Senators apparently leaning toward censure although not committed: Case (R-SD), Green (D-RI), Carlson (R-Kan), Hill (D-Ala), Flanders (R-Vt), Johnson (D-Colo), Jackson (D-Wash), Lehman (D-Lib-NY), Robertson (D-Va), Morse (Ind-Ore), Pastore (D-RI), Watkins (R-Utah), Stennis (D-Miss) and Ervin (D-NC).

Senators apparently inclined to oppose censure Welker (R-Idaho), Dirksen (R-Ill), McCarran (D-Nev), Barrett (R-Wyo) and Malone (R-Nev).

New Wonder Drugs
May Wipe Out TB,
Scientists Believe

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Science's new wonder drugs have proved so effective against tuberculosis that doctors now talk of wiping out that dread disease, says Dr. Selman A. Waksman, U. S. Nobel prize winner and co-discoverer 10 years ago of streptomycin.

Speaking Monday to the 13th conference of the International Union Against Tuberculosis, the Rutgers University professor said since the introduction of antibiotics tuberculosis has dropped from first to tenth place as a man-killer. Streptomycin is a principal weapon in the fight against it.

The Russian-born scientist warned, however, that much still remains to be done. He cautioned that streptomycin is neither a cure for the disease nor a perfect drug.

Maglie And Lemon
Pitch For Series
Opener Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP)—Sal Maglie, 37-year-old curve-baller of the New York Giants, will oppose Bob Lemon, 34-year-old star of the Cleveland Indians, in the first game of the World Series Wednesday.

Managers Leo Rurocher of the Giants and Al Lopez of the Indians in formally announcing their pitching choices, followed the strategy expected of them. Maglie and Lemon both are righthanders, and both will undoubtedly return in later games of the series.

Johnny Antonelli, young giant lefthander, was announced as the starter in the second game against Early Wynn, a righthander.

Elsewhere throughout the list, prices were up around a point at the best or down fractions.

Trading pace was under two million shares for the day, compared with 2,190,000 shares traded Monday.

Among higher stocks were Boeing, Bethlehem Steel, Union Carbide, and Standard Oil (NJ). Going lower were United Aircraft, Consolidated Natural Gas, New York Central, and Kennecott Copper.

Brokers said the demand for General Motors was based on investment buying, expectation of a year-end extra dividend, high earnings coming to an estimated $8.75 a share which is around $2 a share better than a year ago, and continued heavy defense orders.

U. S. government bonds were unchanged to lower.

Weather Hits
Near Record 80

Tee shirts and summer dresses made a brief comeback yesterday as the temperature rose within two degrees of the all time high of 82 for Sept. 27th which was set in 1892. An offshore wind prevented the usual cooling from the bay and held the temperature up.

The expected showers which would have spoiled the day strayed south of the U. P. and will probably stay away until late tonight. Showers should begin moving into the western part of the Upper Peninsula early this evening and reach Escanaba after midnight.

Montana scraped away its first snowfall of the year. Amounts varied from an inch at Harve to four inches at Helena. There will probably be more snowing tomorrow in Montana and the Dakotas.

The hot spots are the same as yesterday. El Centro, Calif., turned in a 107 reading and Yuma, Ariz. climbed to 104. Reading near the 100-mark were again prevalent in Texas, Kansas, Arkansas and Missouri.

Vows Spoken By Nancy Lee Shapy, Bruce Storkel

Tall standards of oak leaves, yellow daisies, bronze mums and purple asters adorned the altar of St. Anne's Church for the autumn wedding of Miss Nancy Lee Shapy, Milwaukee, and Bruce Storkel, West Allis, Wis., Saturday, Sept. 25. Miss Shapy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shapy, 1016 Stephenson Ave. while the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Storkel, Tomah, Wis.

Rev. Clifford Nadeau solemnized the double ring 10:30 a. m. ceremony. Traditional wedding music was played during the service by Miss Bernadette Cossette organist, with Miss Jean LaBranche as soloist.

Nylon Tulle and Lace
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a chapel length gown of tier upon tier of frothy nylon tulle etched with imported lace, sweeping from a petal pointed bodice. A cap of petals held her fingertip veil. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a purple orchid on the cover of a white satin prayer book.

Identical gowns of purple shantung trimmed with purple velvet were worn by the maid of honor, Miss Donna Courier, and bridesmaid, Miss Marilyn Aukis. The gowns were styled on princess lines with sweeping skirts. Short jackets were worn over the strapless bodices. They carried straw baskets of oak leaves, yellow daisies, bronze mums and purple asters.

Best man for Mr. Storkel was his brother, Keith Storkel, of Milwaukee. Ushering the guests to their seats was Ronald Hirn, Milwaukee.

Miss Shapy attended her daughter's wedding attired in a dress of brown crepe with beige accessories, while the mother of the bridegroom wore a grey costume suit with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of bronze mums.

Home Reception
A wedding luncheon was served at 12:30 p. m. at the Stone House for the bridal party and relatives. A miniature bride and bridegroom under a large silver wedding ring centered the table. Ferns and purple asters surrounding the candles completed the table decorations.

One hundred and fifty wedding guests attended a wedding reception held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson, 1014 Stephenson Ave., from 3 to 5 p. m. Their home was decorated in the flower theme of the church. A four tier wedding cake on pillars centered the serving table, which also was decorated with garlands of ferns tied with asters and bows.

Sister of the bride, Miss Jean Storkel, Madison, served the wedding cake. Pouring was Miss Joan Johnson, Milwaukee, while presiding at the punch bowl was Miss Shirley Courier, Miss Joanne Weber, cousin of the bride. Chicago, was in charge of the guest book.

Honeymoon in Black Hills

Upon their return, they will make their home at Milwaukee. The bride is a graduate of Escanaba High School and attended Cleveland Commercial College, while the bridegroom was graduated from Tomah High School.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Weber and Miss Joanne Weber, Chicago; Miss Jean Storkel, Madison, Miss Sue Fredrickson, Clayton Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Allen, Mr. and Mrs. G. Schmidt, all of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Storkel, and Mrs. H. MRS. MELVIN LUFT who repeated her vows in a ceremony Saturday at St. Anthony's Church in Wells is the former Therese Blanchette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blanchette Sr. The newlyweds will live in Nadeau.—Juetten Studio.

Miss Blanchette, Melvin Luft Of Carney Married

Miss Therese Blanchette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blanchette Sr., 7 N. Highland Ave., Wells, and Melvin Luft of Carney repeated their marriage vows in a ceremony at St. Anthony's Church in Wells Saturday, Sept. 25 at 9 a. m.

Father O'Neil D'Amour officiated at the double ring service at an altar decorated with fall flowers. "On This Day" was used as the recessional and the offertory hymn was "Ave Maria."

The bride's gown of white nylon net over satin was styled with a Peter Pan collar and detailed with inserts of Chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil was gathered to a coronet. She carried a white orchid on the cover of her prayer book.

Her twin sister, Louise Weydert, who was matron of honor and Sylvia Maule, a sister of the bridegroom, the bridesmaid, wore strapless bolero gowns of green and orchid net over taffeta and they carried orchid lilies.

Dinner And Reception
Richard Luft was best man for his brother. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Luft of Carney. Donald Blanchette served as groomsmen and the guests were seated by Lawrence Luft and Joseph E. Blanchette.

Mrs. Blanchette wore a plum dress and corsage of orchid lilies for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore blue with a corsage of yellow roses and carnations.

Contract Bridge

By Josephine Culbertson

AMBIGUOUS DOUBLES

There is at least one phase of bidding which has not been thoroughly clarified with the passage of time, and that is the matter of doubles. Even today, experts disagree over whether a certain double is of the takeout or the penalty variety.

Here's an all too typical example of this misunderstanding between partners.

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	1NT	Pass
2♥	Double	Pass	Pass

West selected the three of clubs as his opening lead. Dummy played low. East put in the jack and South won. Declarer promptly knocked out the ace of trumps and there was very little to the subsequent play—with the heart jack falling, the defenders had no chance to win more than five tricks. So North-South gratefully scored up the game and rubber for fulfilling the doubled contract.

Perhaps it is not necessary to say that East-West were not pleased over the outcome of the hand. The words started to fly. West asked East tartly: "Why didn't you take me out? Surely, you knew that I wanted you to bid your best suit!"

East, just as tartly, replied that he had known no such thing. He pointed out that if West had wanted him to bid, he should have doubled one heart. The fact that West had first passed and then doubled South's heart rebid was an announcement that West had "business" intentions. Moreover (East continued) no matter what West had in mind, if he had the values to back up his double, East had plenty of help in his own hand and it was inconceivable that South could make two hearts.

East was unquestionably right. West's double, aside from its ambiguity, was bad. Actually, the technical meaning of such a double is for penalties, but even as West wanted it to be interpreted, what right did he have to make

"Never had anything like it for gales and foul weather," said MacMillan, but that makes it the more interesting. I'm planning to go back next year."

Plan Work Bees

Two work bees are scheduled this week by the Indian Lake Property Owners association on the new concrete control structure near the bridge on M94 two miles south of the city.

One sill has yet to be completed, as well as a gate. Workers expect to pour concrete Saturday.

The bees are scheduled to begin at 5 p. m., Wednesday and 8 a. m., Saturday.

Ironwood had a freak pass play to thank for its narrow victory over Park Falls Friday night. . . . The Red Devils won 20-14. . . . The play which gave them the edge was a pass from Jack Desotelle to Don Carlson which was almost intercepted on the Park Falls goal line. . . . The Park Falls defender bobbled the interception and Ironwood's Carlson snatched the ball in the end zone just before it hit the ground.

Gene Valesano of Wakefield continues to score touchdowns in wholesale lots. . . . The Cardinal halfback ran for three TDs and caught a pass for another as Wakefield drubbed L'Anse 51-0 Friday night.

Eddie Chaput, diminutive Lake Linden halfback, was finally stopped as his team fell to Houghton 27-7. . . . Chaput, nicknamed "The Jet," scored the lone Lake Linden TD. . . . Ralph Hurley scored three of the four Houghton touchdowns.

Chuck Greenland, Stambaugh's sensational scatback, scored his four touchdowns against Iron Mountain on runs of 10, 13, 35 and 48 yards. . . . He picked up 150 yards on the ground during the game which Stambaugh won, 25-20.

Calumet, next foe for Catholic Central, was idle this past weekend. . . . Calumet has won one against two losses to date. . . . Central has two wins and a loss to the Stambaugh Hilltoppers.

One of the six remaining undefeated teams in the Upper Peninsula will fall next week. . . . Iron River and Kingsford, with three wins apiece, will meet at Iron River. . . . Soo, with four in a row, plays Canadian Soo and Stambaugh, with four straight, is idle. . . . Wakefield, winner of three, meets Baraga. . . . Powers, unbeaten in two starts, plays the Iron Mountain Bee team.

Weekend Schedule Is Heavy For Area Football Squads

GAMES FRIDAY
Newberry at Manistique
Powers at Iron Mountain B
GAMES SATURDAY
Calumet at Escanaba Central
Marquette at Gladstone
Escanaba at Menominee
Munising at Stephenson

Area football fans are in for a full measure of action this weekend as the Upper Peninsula grid season passes the half-way mark.

Manistique, Escanaba Catholic Central, Gladstone and Stephenson are scheduled for home contests while the Escanaba Eskymos travel to Menominee. Powers will play the Iron Mountain Bee team and Bark River is idle this weekend.

After successive losses to Negaunee and Gladstone, the Manistique Emeralds will be boiling for their home stand against the Newberry Indians Friday night.

Indians Are 1-1-1
Manistique will be facing a team that has won one, lost one and tied one this season. The Indians beat Marquette 28-0, tied Negaunee 20-20 and lost to Soo 14-2. Newberry is coached this year by Bill Jennings, ex-Negaunee High School athletic star. Coach Dick Bonifas' Emeralds opened the season with victories over Ishpeming and Stephenson before dropping a 0 decision to Negaunee and a 14-13 verdict to Gladstone.

Catholic Central is fresh from a 25-9 victory over Canadian Soo. Central will entertain Calumet Saturday afternoon at 2 at the Escanaba Athletic field. Calumet has a 14-7 win over Lake Linden and losses to Iron River (24-0) and Bessemer (19-6). Central enters the game with wins over Canadian Soo and Gladstone and a loss to Stambaugh.

Braves Eye Third
In their home game Saturday afternoon the Gladstone Braves will be shooting for their third straight victory in Great Lakes Conference competition. After dropping a 12-9 verdict to Catholic Central in the season opener, Gladstone has posted successive wins over Munising and Manistique.

The Marquette Redmen, who furnish Gladstone's opposition have not yet cracked the win column this season. Marquette has been beaten by Kingsford, Newberry, Munising and Ishpeming. Their combined opponents have scored 119 points to 24 for the Redmen.

The Escanaba Eskymos will be shooting for their first victory at Menominee Saturday night at 9 (EST). The Eskymos dropped 13-6 and 6-0 decisions to Ironwood and Soo and then absorbed a 34-0 defeat at Green Bay East in their three starts.

Oldest U. P. Rivalry
Menominee was blasted 26-0 by a rugged Green Bay Central Catholic team Saturday night, the worst defeat on the Maroon books since 1941 when Escanaba laced them 52-0. Menominee had opened the season with an impressive 19-0 win over Janesville, Wis.

The Escanaba-Menominee game marks the 58th renewal of the oldest football rivalry in the Upper Peninsula.

Escanaba and Menominee Bee teams will meet at Menominee in a 2 o'clock encounter.

Stephenson's Eagles, smarting from a 59-0 licking at the hands of Kingsford last week, will be host to the Munising Mustangs Saturday.

Central Michigan Star Top Scorer

DETROIT (P)—Versatile Jim Podoley, a lefthanded right halfback, is the leading scorer in Michigan college football.

The flashy, 20-year-old sophomore has scored 42 points for unbeaten Central Michigan—and he has done it in spectacular fashion.

Podoley has sprinted for five touchdowns on runs of 40, 80, 70 and 89 yards. In addition, he has caught touchdown passes of 40 and 45 yards.

Bill Pochatko won the 1954 municipal golf title at Greensburg, Pa., with his first hole-in-one on the 117-yard No. 7 hole. A few days later he was showing some friends how he did it and sunk his second hole-in-one.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL FULLBACK—Jim Greenwood shows the running form that gained 204 yards for Catholic Central as Coach Tom St. Germain's team drubbed Canadian Soo 23-9 Saturday afternoon. Greenwood led Central on the ground and intercepted two Canadian passes. He scored two touchdowns as did left halfback Bill Lancour. Greenwood has accounted for 24 points in the three Central games this season. (Daily Press Photo)

Hutchinson Demands Two-Year Contract

NEW YORK (P)—Detroit Free Press sports editor Lyall Smith said today Fred Hutchinson has demanded a two year contract renewal to stay on as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Smith said Hutchinson, 35, in New York for the World Series, probably will be appointed manager of the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast League if he leaves the Tigers.

The Tigers' board of directors, Smith said, would have to pass on a contract renewal for a two-year term. Previously Walter (Spike) Briggs, Tiger president, said he said today Fred Hutchinson, who piloted the Tigers to a fifth place finish this year, is entitled to another chance as Bengal manager.

Hutchinson started talking about a two year contract at the end of the 1953 season which saw the Tigers climb to sixth place from their 1952 last place finish. Briggs said at that time a two-year managerial contract would be against Tiger policy.

Smith quoted Briggs as saying he will return to Detroit Wednesday—missing the New York games of the series—and try to round up the Tiger directors to pass on Hutchinson's contract demand.

The Tiger board includes Briggs, four of his brothers-in-law and Harry Sisson, secretary of the Detroit Baseball Co.

Smith said a coolness toward rehiring Hutchinson has developed among members of the Tigers' official family.

Gloomy Drills For Spartans

EAST LANSING (P)—There was a blue Monday in the Michigan State football camp following the defeat by Iowa.

Usually, there is some horseplay and a few laughs at the MSC practice. But after the 14-10 edging by Iowa, coaches were grim and players were serious.

Usually Monday is an easy day. Instead, the players scrimmaged with the first team being driven as hard as any of the substitute.

When the No. 1 team lined up for the first time, there were some noticeable shifts in assignments, indicating coach Duffy Daugherty and his assistants want to discipline the players.

None of the first stringers got the call at end. Instead, junior end Jim Hinesly of Detroit and sophomore Dennis Mendyk of Saginaw got the job.

MSC ends caught only three of the 15 passes thrown against Iowa so the shifts were seen as a sign that coaches figure the ends need some sprucing up.

The regulars had their first look at some Wisconsin plays brought back by scouts who saw the 52-15 whipping Wisconsin handed Marquette.

Generally, the scouts warned that Wisconsin was loaded — another reason for the general air of grimness at Michigan State this week.

Dressen Is New Senator Manager

NEW YORK (P)—Charlie Dressen is the new Washington manager. The former Brooklyn and Cincinnati pilot signed Monday to lead the sixth place Senators for the next two years at an estimated $40,000 per season.

Holding a press conference to mark the occasion, the 55-year-old Dressen demonstrated the same self confidence and the familiar outspoken frankness. He showed plainly that a year had not softened his bitterness towards the Brooklyn Dodgers' organization, which let him go after he won two straight pennants.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press
Caracas, Venezuela — World featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, 123½, New York stopped Baby Ortiz, 129, Mexico, 3 (non-title bout).

New York — Danny Joe Perez, 139½, New York, outpointed Bobby Bickle, 138, Topeka, Kan., 10.

Maglie, Lemon Likely To Open World Series

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (P)—Barring a surprise selection, the 1954 world series will open at the Polo Grounds Wednesday with Sal Maglie (14-6) on the mound for the New York Giants opposing the Cleveland Indians' Bob Lemon (23-7).

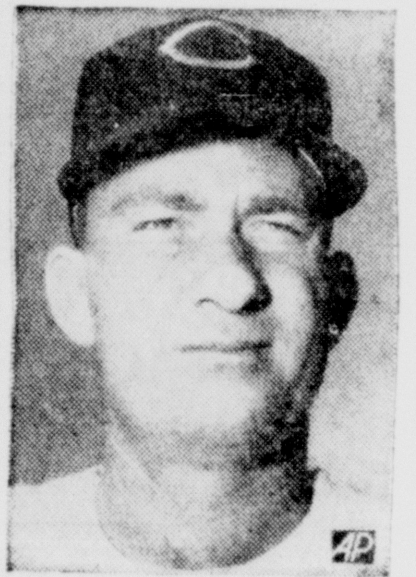

Both managers, Leo Durocher of the Giants and Al Lopez of the Indians, promised to make their selections known today.

The Indians, already a probable 17 to 10 favorite, were made an even more solid 9 to 5 choice today. The odds-makers undoubtedly count on Cleveland's deeper pitching staff.

Nice Weather Forecast
The weather man promises nice weather. He says it'll be slightly cloudy with the temperatures between 65 and 70 degrees when the umpires yell "play ball" at noon CST.

Midwest Grid Notes

CHICAGO (P)—Midwest Football Briefs:

Wisconsin — The Badgers came through one-sided victory over Marquette without injury. Coach Ivy Williamson gave the 29 men who saw action against the Warriors the day off.

Iowa — A light workout in gym suits was the order of the day for the Hawkeyes, 14-10 victory over Michigan State. Quarterback Jerry Reichow who injured his knee Saturday said he'll be ready for the Montana game.

Ohio State — Scouts from California warned the Buckeyes that the Bears are the best team on the West Coast. Coach Woody Hayes said he'll work on fundamentals and called Ohio State "a fair team with good chances of improving."

Illinois — Capt. Jan Smid was the only Illini guard among the first six to escape injury Saturday against Penn State. Scout Lou Agase said Stanford, Illinois TV opponent Saturday, is better than last year when Illinois had to rally for a 33-21 victory.

Michigan State — Victimized by Iowa, the Spartans are preparing for another Big Ten giant — Wisconsin. Players reported from the Iowa game with lots of bumps and bruises but no serious injuries. Scouts from Wisconsin said it's the best Badger team they've ever seen.

Purdue — The Boilermakers buckled down on line blocking and a running attack which they plan to toss at Notre Dame. Coach Stu Holcomb, referring to Purdue's 31-0 victory over Missouri, warned "One game doesn't make a season."

Indiana — The Hoosiers will be without halfback Don Domenic for Saturday's game against College of the Pacific. Domenic suffered a bruised hip in Ohio State's 28-0 victory over Indiana.

Michigan — Lou Baldacci, who scored both Wolverine touchdowns against Washington, was among three men reporting with serious injuries. Baldacci, with an injured shoulder, and halfback Danny Cline, suffering a bruised knee, were on the practice field Monday. Also injured with a bruised hip was end Ron Kramer.

Northwestern — The Wildcats began preparations for Southern Cal without end Jack Stillwell. Stillwell sprained an elbow in the first few plays of Northwestern's 27-14 victory over Iowa State.

Minnesota — Coach Murray Warmath has installed Mike Falls, 220-pound lineman at right guard. Falls, a regular guard last year, played tackle against Nebraska. Warmath said he made the latest shift because of spotty guard play.

Notre Dame — The Irish went through a light workout as Coach Terry Brennan pointed out mistakes made in the Texas game. The Irish suffered only minor injuries Saturday and are expected to be in good shape for Purdue.

Marquette — Halfback Ron Drzewiecki, injured in the bruising Wisconsin game, reported Monday in good condition. The Warriors held a brief passing drill and listened to scouts' reports on Miami, their next opponent.

Pro Sleeper Play Is Ruled Illegal

PHILADELPHIA (P)—National Football League commissioner Bert Bell says any repetition of a "sleeper" pass play used by the Los Angeles Rams in their 48-0 rout of Baltimore Sunday will draw an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty.

The play was good for 80 yards and the Rams' first touchdown. Ram halfback Skeet Quinlan stayed near the sideline on the Rams' side of the field when the teams lined up for the first play after the kickoff. He sprinted unnoticed downfield to take a pass from Van Brocklin.

Bell said he would send out a memorandum providing for the unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against any team that sends out a flanker to within five yards of its own sideline.

Football lesson: Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, University of Oklahoma coach, says a quarterback must use both faking and footwork, use short steps when he hides the ball below his knees.

Irish Regain Top Spot In Grid Poll

By ED WILKS

NEW YORK (P)—Notre Dame, the pre-season choice, took over the No. 1 spot today as the nation's sports writers and sportscasters made a quick overhaul of the rankings in The Associated Press' weekly college football poll.

The Irish, second a week ago, vaulted to the top after their impressive 21-0 victory under new coach Terry Brennan in their season opener against Texas.

Oklahoma's Sooners, given first place honors last week settled in the No. 2 position. The Sooners were pressed by TCU for their second victory.

Two of last week's top Georgia Tech and Illinois, fifth and sixth a week ago, dropped clear out of the top 20.

Iowa, with its 14-10 surprise against Michigan State, jumped into the No. 3 spot from the No. 12 berth, displacing Maryland, the 1953 mythical national champion.

The Terps, idle last weekend, dropped to sixth, while UCLA advanced from eighth to fourth and Wisconsin moved in at No. 5 from a tenth-place tie with Baylor last week.

Escanaba Dartball Association Meets
Representatives from all teams in the Escanaba Dartball Association will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Carpenters Hall in preparation for the coming season.

Play in the women's league will begin Oct. 12 and for the men's leagues the opening date is Oct. 14.

Michigan Mirror

By Michigan Press Association

Death of a Michigan child, whose parents were unable to secure medical attention, emphasizes a basic problem facing the people of this state.

It is a problem that takes on tremendous personal significance, engendering both anxiety and anger in the individual who is faced with the need for a doctor and is unable to engage one.

It is a condition that troubles various civic leaders and some members of the medical world.

It is a condition that troubles various civic leaders and some members of the medical world.

The problem defined in brief: The need for more doctors.

Investigations by the State Board of Registrations in Medicine into the case of the Hazel Park four-year old indicated that the parents had delayed so long in calling a doctor that it's questionable whether she could have been saved; that a doctor who was called instructed the parents to take the child to a hospital.

The important point is that no doctor could be found to attend the little girl.

There are fewer medical doctors in Michigan now than in 1942, a war year, according to the federal Public Health Service. Latest figures for the state show that in 1942 there were 121 physicians per 100,000 people; in 1949 there were only 111. Another table shows that there was one doctor for every 831 people in 1942; in 1949 one doctor was available for each 904 people.

An editorial in the Ingham County News in Mason pointed out that there are fewer doctors per capita in Michigan than in Ohio and other mid-west states. The Detroit Free Press stated editorially: "The shortage of doctors was cited repeatedly at the National Governors' Conference on Mental Health as one of the main reasons proper care for the mentally ill is lacking."

It seems obvious to me," says Dr. A. C. Furstberg, dean of medical school at University of Michigan, "that we need more doctors if you can't find one when you are sick. The law of supply and demand is fundamental and easily understood by anyone. If a doctor is not available when his services are required, and appointments must be made 30 to 60 days in advance, surely there is something wrong with the supply of medical talent."

The dean says that there are valid reasons for increasing present enrollments in medical schools, but cautions that it must be done in an "orderly manner as budgets will permit".

Medical training is expensive. Technical instruction by skilled doctors to small groups of students is a necessity if a college is expected to produce competent physicians.

U of M medical school for the past three years has admitted 200 students annually. A total of 720 were enrolled the first of this year.

Wayne University the only other medical school in Michigan, is now admitting 75 each year.

Some 6,737 physicians were reported practicing in Michigan in 1950. If each student who began training graduated and started practice in Michigan (which all do not), only 275 new doctors a year would be available to ease the existing shortage and replace physicians who die or retire.
